yhwah as dialogical character . summary . chapter 1 explores the dialogical nature of the god of the old testament. brueggemann begins with describing the two ends of the spectrum of interpretations of the word "god" in this context: full download => mrs pollifax innocent tourist - however the fact that unites writings of walter brueggemann. brueggemann's approach to divine anger is studied and tested through exegetical explorations of selected passages in the old testament, weighing brueggemann's comments in light of other contributions in the field. brueggemann's approach can be summarised in five movements. el gran
